Customer satisfaction and confidence are the be-all and end-all in the food industry. Businesses in the meat industry must reliably deliver high quality, fresh products to survive in the face of competition. These factors depend essentially on effective logistical processes, and thus on intelligent software. Savanna.NET® warehouse management software efficiently and reliably controls all the material flows. Its modular design allows you to choose the material flow modules you require, including putaway, lot tracking, order picking, and more.
